PHILOSOPHY

The Department of Philosophy includes a wide range of expertise which allows students accepted into our graduate programs to both extend their philosophical education at the graduate level and to concentrate their research project in a number of areas. These include the history of philosophy, ethics, social and political philosophy, feminist philosophy, epistemology, philosophy of mind, metaphysics, and philosophy of science. We offer PhD, MA (thesis) and MA (major research project) programs. Within the MA (major research project) program, students may choose to specialize in the field of Philosophy of Data Science.

MA Program

The Philosophy Department includes a wide range of expertise which allows students accepted into the MA program to both extend their philosophical background at the graduate level and to concentrate their research project in any of a number of different areas such as the history of philosophy, ethics, social and political philosophy, feminist philosophy, epistemology, philosophy of mind, metaphysics, and philosophy of science. It is primarily a research degree and the program will involve either an MA thesis or the smaller Major Research Project.

The MA in Philosophy also offers a Philosophy of Data Science field, through which students consider a variety of interpretations and assessments of the social, political, and ethical implications of advances in Data Science / Artificial Intelligence / Machine Learning (DS/AI/ML), as well as some of the real epistemological and metaphysical quandaries these new technologies present. Students in this field complete a Major Research Project.

Admission Requirements

A four-year bachelor's degree from a recognized university. Normally this will include at least a major in philosophy, although the program is also open to students who may not have had a substantial number of philosophy undergraduate courses but who provide evidence of philosophical ability or, for applicants to the Philosophy of Data Science field, a background in psychology, computer science, statistics, and/or business. Applicants to the Philosophy of Data Science field should also have some familiarity with programming (e.g., CIS*1500 Introduction to Programming, or equivalent), or will be required to complete some additional coursework upon admission. In all cases, in order to be considered for admission to the MA program, the department requires that the average grade over the last 10.00 credits of studies (i.e., a normal two years of full-time studies on the University of Guelph system) be at least 75%. All applicants are required to submit a sample of writing. Further details can be found on the Philosophy Department website (https://www.uoguelph.ca/arts/philosophy/).

Program Requirements

Students enrol in one of two study options:

- 1. course work and major research project (1 year), or
- 2. thesis (2 years).

Regardless of the stream chosen, the MA in Philosophy at Guelph is a research degree, in which the responsibility for study rests primarily with the student. Students in all streams are expected to develop their own topic for research.

Thesis

Total of 1.75 credits in graduate course work required, consisting of:

Code	Title	Credits
PHIL*6950	MA Seminar	0.25
Three graduate courses		1.50
Completion and defence of a thesis		0.00

Course Work and Major Research Project (MRP)

Total of 3.75 credits in graduate course work required, consisting of:

Code	Title	Credits
PHIL*6950	MA Seminar	0.25
Five graduate courses		2.50
PHIL*6990	Major Research Project	1.00

Course Work and Major Research Project (MRP) in the field of Philosophy of Data Science

Total of 3.75 credits in graduate course work required, consisting of:

Code	Title	Credits
PHIL*6950	MA Seminar	0.25
PHIL*6400	Ethics of Data Science	0.50
PHIL*6410	Philosophy of Computation	0.50
STAT*6950	Statistical Methods for the Life Sciences	0.50
Two graduate courses
PHIL*6990	Major Research Project	1.00

PhD Program Admission Requirements

Admission to the program is restricted to those who have an MA in philosophy, or an outstanding record in undergraduate studies in philosophy.

Program Requirements

The aim of the program is to develop philosophers who are well rounded in the traditional areas of study and who have achieved a high level of expertise in their special areas of research.

Students are required to complete:

Code	Title	Credits
Five graduate courses		2.50
PHIL*6960	PhD Seminar	0.50
PHIL*6970	PhD Thesis Research	0.50

Through their coursework and/or other means, students must demonstrate knowledge in three areas: The History of Philosophy, Value Theory, and the MELSL grouping (one of Metaphysics or Epistemology or Logic or Philosophy of Science or Philosophy of Language). This will normally involve completion of one course in each of the three areas, including coursework completed during the student's MA program. An area requirement may also be satisfied by examination or by a suitable MA thesis. If students meet an area requirement through MA coursework, MA thesis or examination, they will still be required to complete the above-outlined 3.50 credits of graduate coursework.

Students must pass an Oral Qualifying Examination by the end of their fifth semester in the program. Students in the program may be required to demonstrate competence in one or more skills which their advisory committee decides, in consultation with the program officer, is needed for their dissertation (e.g. a language other than English). Submission and defence of an acceptable thesis on an approved topic completes the requirements of the PhD. More details are available at https://www.uoguelph.ca/arts/philosophy/.

Collaborative Specializations International Development Studies

The Department of Philosophy participates in the MA/PhD collaborative specialization in International Development Studies (IDS). Students in this option register in an MA/PhD program in the department and IDS. Those faculty members whose research and teaching expertise includes aspects of international development studies may serve as advisors for MA/PhD students. Please consult the International Development Studies (https://calendar.uoguelph.ca/graduate-calendar/collaborative-specializations/international-development-studies/) listing for a detailed description of the MA/PhD collaborative specialization and the special additional requirements for each of the participating departments.

Neuroscience

The Department of Philosophy participates in the collaborative specialization in neuroscience. Please consult the Neuroscience (https:// calendar.uoguelph.ca/graduate-calendar/collaborative-specializations/ neuroscience/) listing for a detailed description of the collaborative specialization.

One Health

The Department of Philosophy participates in the collaborative specialization in One Health. Master's and Doctoral students wishing to undertake thesis research or their major research project with an emphasis on one health are eligible to apply to register concurrently in Philosophy and the collaborative specialization. Students should consult the One Health (https://calendar.uoguelph.ca/graduate-calendar/ collaborative-specializations/one-health/) listing for more information.

Sexualities, Genders and Bodies

The Philosophy program participates in the collaborative specialization in Sexualities, Genders and Bodies. MA and Doctoral students wishing to undertake thesis research or their major research paper/project with an emphasis on sexualities, genders and bodies are eligible to apply to register concurrently in Philosophy and the collaborative specialization. Students should consult the Sexualities, Genders and Bodies (https:// calendar.uoguelph.ca/graduate-calendar/collaborative-specializations/ sexualities-genders-and-bodies/) listing for more information.
