FREN*3030 Good and Evil Fall Only (LEC: 3) [0.50]
In this course, we will consider a variety of texts in which the lines between good and evil are blurred, making such categorization difficult. Good and evil will be considered in different locations and in different time periods, at both the microscopic level of characters (heroes and villains) and/or at the macroscopic level (utopias and dystopias). Readings on the ethical challenges characters and societies face, and the decisions they make will be used as the basis for oral and written debates in French.
Offering(s): Offered in odd-numbered years.
Prerequisite(s): FREN*2020, FREN*2060, FREN*2520
Department(s): School of Languages and Literatures
Location(s): Guelph
FREN*3090 Classics of French Literature  Winter Only  (LEC: 3)  [0.50]
This course offers students the opportunity to engage with texts considered part of the French literary canon. What makes a literary classic? Why do some texts stand the test of time, while others disappear or are excluded from the canon? Students will examine these questions and will analyse texts that may range from the plays of Molière and Racine to the novels of recent francophone Nobel-prize winners.
Offering(s): Offered in even-numbered years.
Prerequisite(s): FREN*2020, FREN*2060, FREN*2520
Department(s): School of Languages and Literatures
