

LINGUISTICS (LING)

LING*1000 Introduction to Linguistics Fall and Winter (LEC: 3) [0.50]

The nature of language. An elementary survey of linguistic disciplines.

Phonetics, morphology, syntax, semantics, language, and society.

Offering(s): Also offered through Distance Education format.

Department(s): School of Languages and Literatures

Location(s): Guelph

LING*2400 Phonetics Winter Only (LEC: 3) [0.50]

This course studies central concepts in phonetics such as speech anatomy, acoustics, articulation, analysis and perception of vowels, consonants and suprasegmentals as well as the International Phonetic Alphabet.

Prerequisite(s): LING*1000

Department(s): School of Languages and Literatures

Location(s): Guelph

LING*3010 Topics in Sociolinguistics Winter Only (LEC: 3) [0.50]

How do language and society affect one another? This course explores various topics related to the study of language and society with a focus on Canadian contexts. Topics of study include the role of social variables (gender/sex, age, ethnicity, social class, education, identity) in language variation and change. The course also examines topics such as bilingualism, multilingualism, language contact, language policies, language ideologies, and language and the environment.

Offering(s): Offered in odd-numbered years.

Prerequisite(s): LING*1000

Department(s): School of Languages and Literatures

Location(s): Guelph

LING*3020 Linguistics and Technology Fall Only (LEC: 3) [0.50]

This course will focus on the use of technology in the field of linguistics.

It may cover computational and corpus linguistics, uses of technology in second-language acquisition, and/or the technological tools used in translation. Lectures and class discussions will be supplemented by hands-on seminars which introduce various technological resources with applications for the field of linguistics.

Offering(s): Offered in even-numbered years.

Prerequisite(s): LING*1000

Department(s): School of Languages and Literatures

Location(s): Guelph